Antiwar Protests Planned U.S. War Dead Honored

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
The nation pays tribute Saturday to its war dead—from the men slain at Bunker Hill to those killed in the jungles of Vietnam—with Memorial Day parades and ceremonies.

In at least a dozen large cities, antiwar groups scheduled demonstrations calling for an end to the Indochina war.

Sen. John G. Tower, R-Tex., will substitute for President Nixon in laying a wreath at the tomb of the unknown soldier in the Arlington National Cemetery.

Nixon is in California for the weekend. A peace group planned a parade from Capitol Hill to the Washington Monument.

In New York, an appeals court Friday struck down an order by Federal Judge Constance Baker Motley which would have required that police be instructed to protect antiwar demonstrators.

Mrs. Motley acted at the request of civil liberties groups seeking to prevent a repetition of May 8 disturbances in the city, when construction workers beat up students and other peace demonstrators. The city appealed the order as "unlawful interference" with the management of the police department.

New York's annual Memorial Day parade, sponsored by veterans groups, was to take place Saturday on Riverside Drive along the Hudson River. An antiwar group planned to parade later on Fifth Avenue and rally in Central Park.

In Tucson, Ariz., several thousand construction workers planned to parade in support of the University of Arizona administration and Tucson police for their handling of recent campus antiwar rallies. Student Body President Bruce Eggers said the student government supported the march and would provide post-parade punch and cookies for the workers.

Communists Tighten Hold

PRAGUE (AP) — Premier Lubomir Strougal confirmed Friday that the Czechoslovak diplomatic service is being purged of officials critical of the 1968 Soviet invasion and occupation.

In order to combat criticism of the Prague regime in such countries as Austria and France, "the government is... completing the cleansing of the Czechoslovak foreign service of all segments which did not serve the interests of our republic and of all people who failed politically," Strougal said in a report to Parliament.

He declared the foreign service should admit only workers "who have an inner conviction about the correctness of the policy of the Communist party and who are resolved to implement it consistently."

Strougal gave no figures on the foreign service purge but it is known to have caught hundreds of Czechoslovak diplomats abroad the past year, including the majority of the ambassadors.

At the Foreign Ministry in Prague, scarcely a week passes without the departure of some official accused either of taking the wrong (i.e., anti-Soviet) position at the time of the invasion or of passiveness in promoting the present line that the military intervention was friendly assistance.

In the government as a whole, Strougal said: "Measures are being progressively implemented for the cleansing of the state apparatus of right wing opportunist and anti-Socialist (anti-Communist) elements... and will be completed in the near future."

In Colombo, Ceylon, a communist-supported government led by the world's third woman prime minister — took power in Ceylon Friday while thousands of its supporters went on a rampage in downtown Colombo, attacking the office of the country's largest newspaper group and clashing with police.

One police official was reported slain. One of the city's main streets was turned into a battlefield as police fired tear gas and clubbed bottle-throwing demonstrators who had ransacked and set fire to part of the building which houses Associated Newspapers of Ceylon.

Nixons Pass Holiday At California Home

SAN CLEMENTE, Calif. (AP) — President Nixon embarked on the long Memorial Day weekend Friday in nonholiday fashion—relaxing a little but working considerably with his staff at the Western White House beside the Pacific.

Southeast Asia and Cambodia in particular filled most of a morning of discussions with Henry A. Kissinger, the top presidential adviser on foreign and national security affairs, Press Secretary Ronald L. Ziegler reported.

And, Ziegler said, the President will be getting in some work on a promised report on the state of an economy buoyed by a three-day upward surge in the stock market.

President and Mrs. Nixon planned to observe Memorial Day itself at their Spanish-style villa, Ziegler said. But that could be subject to change if the weather held good for golfing.

Nixon was described as pleased with the reception he received at the Billy Graham Crusade in Tennessee while Dr. Graham termed heckling of the President by peace demonstrators "an infringement of free speech."

Nixon told the crusade crowd of 75,000 that to realize their full potential young "Americans must turn to those great spiritual sources that have made America the great country it is."

Graham said, "I think Americans are getting used to and somewhat expect a small group of hecklers, demonstrators and protesters at nearly all public gatherings. However, when they refused to let the overwhelming majority of those present hear the speaker they came to hear, then that is an infringement of free speech."

University of Tennessee President Andrew D. Holt said, "We share the shock and embarrassment of all Tennesseans at the discourtesy of a small group which imposed on our President and Dr. Graham last night."

Hundreds Flock To Weekend Fest

HEYWORTH, Ill. (AP) — Hundreds of young persons flocked to a rock festival that opened Friday on a central Illinois farm under the cloud of a court ban and traffic and drug mishaps.

A Circuit Court injunction against the festival, under a ruling that it was improper use of agricultural land under the county zoning law, was upheld Thursday by the Illinois Appellate Court.

Paul Welch, McLean County state's attorney, said penalties would be set by the court but could range from "a fine of indefinite amount to up to six months in jail."

"We will take every step that is reasonable and practical to enforce the order of the court," he said.

L. David Lewis, part owner of the 320-acre farm on which the festival is being held, has claimed he will lose $68,000 if the concert is not held. About $20,000 of this, he said, is because he planted grass instead of the usual crops.

Promoters of the event said 5,500 persons had paid the $15 admission fee for the Memorial Day weekend festival and predicted that 35,000 to 40,000 persons would attend.

Police in nearby Bloomington and Pontiac were ordered on 12 hour shifts and state police set up headquarters at the Heyworth high school. There were no police on the festival grounds, which were patrolled by about 65 trained ushers and security guards.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Draft Director Curtis W. Tarr says he wouldn't mind allowing conscientious objectors to choose which wars they refuse to fight, if only someone could show him how to separate honest objectors from dishonest ones.

Tarr indicated he would be willing to recommend enlarging the definition of conscientious objection if a workable definition could be provided.

He says also the federal government should organize federal work programs for conscientious objectors in which they could be of real service, adding that in many communities there are now no useful programs for such people.

Tarr concedes the war in Southeast Asia has caused young people to lose respect for military service without which, he says, it will not be possible to achieve President Nixon's goal of an all-volunteer Army.

"My only hope is that we can withdraw quickly from that theater and go about the important process of bringing back together again a kind of fundamental unity without which our society cannot continue to advance or even stay where it is," he said Thursday in a religious group.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Indonesian President Suharto, urging self-determination for all Southeast Asian nations, said Wednesday that "other foreign troops" must be kept from the area after the U.S. and its allies withdraw. Addressing the National Press Club, he said "if we really desire peace, then... the physical occupation of a nation by another must be stopped."

Here to Eternity

Memorial Day 1970.

What does it mean?

No more, it can be said, than Memorial Day 1969 meant... or Memorial Day 1945... or Memorial Day 1919.

Because man has not yet learned how to solve international problems without killing his fellow man.

Be the slain soldiers Americans, South Vietnamese, North Vietnamese, Cambodians, Israelis or Arabs—or, in earlier conflicts Englishmen, Germans, Russians, Frenchmen, Japanese or Chinese—it has not, yet, made a difference.

Yes, we have freedom still. Yes, fascism was conquered and communism has been circumscribed. But no, the world is not at rest, not at ease, not at peace. And the works of peace go neglected by the demands of mutual deterrence.

Russia threatens the United States, the United States, as the Russians see it, threatens them; both threaten Red China, and vice versa. Arabs scream at Jews and Jews berate Arabs. Indochina burns with a war millions of Americans believe is in the cause of freedom and millions of Asians say is in the cause of imperialism.

World War I did not "end all wars" and "make the world safe for democracy." World War II, fought in large part on the same soil, left scars still unhealed.

The Vietnam war and the Mideast stalemate are still agonizing the superpowers.

Meanwhile, in Vienna, men discuss how much overkill is too much.

Cambodian Relief Force Under Fire

SAIGON (AP) — A relief force of Cambodian soldiers and more than 1,000 South Vietnamese marines battled Friday toward the provincial capital of Prey Veng, whose garrison was under heavy attack by enemy forces.

Street fighting raged in Prey Veng, 30 miles east of the Cambodian capital of Phnom Penh, for the second straight day. Late reports said the inexperienced garrison apparently controlled only the provincial headquarters and the center of the town.

Official sources said the battle for Prey Veng apparently is part of the Communist command's plan to strengthen its positions east of the Mekong River to secure a new supply route beyond its invaded sanctuaries along the South Vietnamese border.

Although a South Vietnamese headquarters spokesman in Saigon said the marines had driven into Prey Veng, Cambodian military sources said they were still moving toward the town.

The marines, supported by helicopter gunships, were reported to have run into strong North Vietnamese forces near Banam, a town about 10 miles southwest of Prey Veng. They claimed killing 19 enemy while losing four killed and 21 wounded. Military sources in Phnom Penh said the relief force was moving north from Neak Luong, 20 miles south of Prey Veng, in three columns. The Cambodian soldiers were moving up Highway 15 with the South Vietnamese in two columns on each flank.

The relief force was also being covered by Cambodian-manned MIG jets purchased from the Soviet Union before the new government came to power.

The Cambodian defense force inside Prey Veng had to fight without air support. Associated Press correspondent John T. Wheeler reported from Phnom Penh that Cambodian fighter-bombers were kept back for fear of causing casualties among the civilian population.

Prey Veng is one of the last Cambodian government strongholds east of the Mekong River. Communist command troops still threaten Kompong Cham, Cambodia's third largest city, on the west bank of the Mekong 35 miles to the north.

Heavy fighting was reported east of Kompong Cham, but there was no new word from Tang Krasang, a district capital 45 miles to the northwest that was captured by North Vietnamese and Viet Cong Thursday.

Spokesmen in Saigon said South Vietnamese forces pursuing elements of the 272nd North Vietnamese regiment in the Chup rubber plantation just east of Kompong Cham had pulled out of the area after killing more than 90 enemy troops. The South Vietnamese, who lost about a dozen men killed, were sweeping southeastward along Highway 7 toward the Vietnamese border.

Twenty miles north of Kompong Cham, Cambodian forces were said to have withdrawn from the Prek Kak rubber plantation after suffering heavy casualties in fighting Thursday.

It's Time To Stop All Violence

There is little the average person can do about the widening of the violence of the Vietnam war into Cambodia, except to convey his feelings about it to his representatives and the President in Washington and to hope that it will be, as the President has promised, a limited operation which will actually shorten the war.

But there are two things every American can do about the most immediate consequence of the Cambodian adventure, the widening of violence in our own country:

He can refuse to indulge in violence himself, either in thought, word or deed; and he can make known his abhorrence of violent talk or action by others, whether they be brick-heaving rioters or crowd-pleasing politicians or armed agents of law enforcement.

If America is to survive this period of crisis bearing any resemblance to a free democracy, we must put down the weapons of violence, both physical and rhetorical, both those that penetrate and rip the flesh and those that bruise and inflame the soul.

In this bloody month of May 1970 we have seen four young people shot to death by National Guard troops at Kent State University in Ohio. Fifteen other students were wounded by the gunfire and an unknown number of police and guardsmen injured by mis-siles.

We have seen six men killed by po-and nine wounded by police at Jackson State College in Mississippi.

We have seen six men killed by police during rioting in Augusta, Ga.

We can argue endlessly about who are the guilty—those who actually fired the guns or those who created situations in which the need to restore law and order combined with human weakness or stupidity or fear or cruelty to produce tragedy.

But unless every one of us is willing to accept ultimate responsibility for what goes on in this country, we can look forward only to a lengthening list of victims, to mindless, senseless violence which, eventually, could consume us all.

As much as—perhaps more than—the undisciplined violence of rioters we have to fear the disciplined violence of the law.

At Kent, soldiers for some still unknown reason, let loose an indiscriminate fusillade. At Jackson, highway patrolmen pumped possibly 140 bullets into a dormitory in response to an alleged two shots from a sniper. In Augusta, the six dead were riddled by buckshot in their backs.

And in Chicago, a federal grand jury found that police "grossly exaggerated" a shoot-out with Black Panthers last December in which two Panthers died. Police fired some 82 bullets into their apartment. Only one bullet was proven to have been fired out.

In all these incidents, hate, on both sides, preceded the bullets and hate, on both sides, only increased when all the bullets were spent.

By the nature of the roles they have chosen to undertake in society, and by virtue of the power literally given into their hands, a heavy burden falls on the guardians of the law.

To expect wisdom, restraint and self-control from law officers under the most extreme provocations—and nothing less can be expected—is not, however, to absolve anyone else of responsibility.

The time has long passed when calling a policeman "pig" was clever, if it ever was. It is low and vile. To point to the violence and obscenity of racial discrimination or of war as justification for violence and obscenity on the street or the college campus has become the shoddiest of excuses.

The actions of the war protester may one day be seen to have hastened the end of the war, but it also accomplished something else: If war makes killers of young men, this time antiwar has unleashed certain base passions which all of us harbor. If the price of the war has been high—too high—in discord at home, the price exacted by those who would end the war has also been unbearably high.

Not all of us, thank God, have taken to the street with rock or fire-bomb or construction worker's hard hat, but all of us are guilty of taking up the verbal weapons of hate.

We must and we can put these weapons down now.

Class Action Measure Faces Uncertain Fate

By JOHN LENGEL
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — A powerful legal weapon designed to keep merchants honest—the class action suit—faces an uncertain fate in its first congressional test next week because of Nixon administration opposition.

The administration and business groups are attempting to scuttle the bill in favor of a counter proposal which class action backers call a "consumer fraud" in itself.

The class action bill comes before the House interstate commerce subcommittee Tuesday. One of its sponsors says the outcome depends on the swing vote of one Democrat.

The bill would permit an individual to file suit on behalf of thousands of consumers. Presently, an individual seldom goes to court to recover, say, $50 because the court costs would exceed the judgment.

If an individual could file suit on behalf of thousands, proponents add, the judgment would be large enough to make merchants chary of attempting to deceive the public.

The Nixon counter proposal sharply limits the field for class action suits by only allowing a suit once the Justice Department sues, and then only if that suit is successful. Comparable government actions have taken 20 years.

Mrs. Virginia Knauer, the President's consumer assistant, originally testified in favor of the class action but now lobbies against it because of White House pressure, charged Bess Myerson Grant, New York City's consumer commissioner.

Mrs. Grant urged Congress "to stand up to the pressures being mounted by Atty. Gen. John Mitchell, the American Retail Federation, and others."

"We will not be fooled by a fake reform, like the administration's counter measure, a so-called 'consumer protection bill,' so riddled with loopholes, exceptions, qualifications and elaborate triggering mechanisms that it is itself a consumer fraud," Mrs. Grant said.

"Existing laws make fraud illegal," she said, "but they do not make fraud unprofitable. In the consumer field today fraud pays off too often."

Elements of the business lobby say legitimate firms would be damaged by the bill. Advocates say only bad practices would stand up as profitable court targets.

The subcommittee consists of five Democrats and four Republicans. Rep. Bob Eckhardt, D-Tex., predicted the GOP members will vote as a unit, with an undecided Democrat left with the swing vote.

If the bill clears the subcommittee, Eckhardt said, it has brighter prospects in the full committee and on the floor of the House.

A similar measure sponsored by Sen. Warren Magnuson, D-Wash., has been approved by his own Senate Commerce Committee.

The Magnuson bill is a federal instead of state approach and would, according to Eckhardt, require lengthy building of federal court precedent before being effective. The House bill, Eckhardt said, draws on substantive state law and could be effective immediately.

War Classic Key To Viet Strategy

By RAY CROMLEY
NEA Washington Correspondent
WASHINGTON (NEA) — Sometimes a book has a powerful effect on a man. On occasion, the emotional shock of what it reports will determine the course of a war—or a campaign.

This then is the story of how, indirectly, a book made the Cambodian venture less of a gamble by insuring (psychologically) that American forces committed to the attack would get out quickly—not be trapped into staying.

For if there is anything President Nixon knows, it is that battles are uncertain things. A small engagement can lead to total involvement. A battalion can bog down, be surrounded and call for help. And the resulting battles go on endlessly.

How then could Nixon risk going into Cambodia? How could he be so certain he would escape entrapment? How accept the confident assessment of his military?

The story goes back to 1961 when a reporter (and one-time French soldier) Bernard Fall wrote "Street Without Joy," a book once "required" reading for American officers headed for Vietnam.

The title of Chapter 9 is End of a Task Force. It describes the death of an elite jungle-trained, battle-wise French reinforced regiment, Mobile Group 100. It was isolated and cut to pieces little by little in the back country of Vietnam.

Gen. William Westmoreland read "Street Without Joy" and studied that chapter and that campaign. And it made a deep and lasting impression.

He determined that never, while he was in a position of command or authority, would he take the chance of losing a major American unit—a battalion, a regiment, a brigade or a division. He would never, however tempted, let a battalion get into a position from which it could not be rescued.

A number of years back, when Westmoreland was in command in Vietnam, on sound intelligence information he began a campaign in an area near the Cambodian border.

But as the operation got under way, and after major elements had been committed, the rains came ahead of schedule. The units began to bog down. The men, their trucks and their artillery were mired in water and mud. Westmoreland did not reinforce. He pulled them out quickly and abandoned the campaign. The reward for victory would have been sizable. But he would not risk the loss of a battalion.

This caution he carried through Vietnam. He carries it still.

In Cambodia today the rains are starting. In some areas they are already heavy. By the end of June they will be a threat to landbound units. It will be possible for aircraft to fly by choosing the right day and hour. Infantry can't pick the hour or day. Once in, it's tied to the mud. It would be possible—perhaps—for some troops to operate at some periods. But at one time or another they would be sitting ducks for North Vietnamese units familiar with the terrain.

Men in a position to know have told this reporter Nixon is well-aware that the fate of French Mobile Group 100 is much on Westmoreland's mind and that of Gen. Creighton Abrams.

There is reason to believe this knowledge has given the President confidence that no "reason" will suddenly be found for keeping American troops in Cambodian Communist bases after June 30.

Complaints Unjustified

Dear Ann Landers: I'll bet there isn't a person in your reading audience who thinks he hasn't been taken by a mail order house at one time or another. Maybe when they read this, they will have a better understanding of why they didn't get their gift or merchandise.

I work for a company that deals in mail order premiums. We handle hundreds of items. Some of our merchandise is free. Most of it is for sale.

I wish the complaining public could spend one day at my station. Here is what they would see. Letters containing money but no coupon and no address. Unsealed envelopes which contain a coupon but no money. Coupons with money, but no body can read the writing on the coupon. Envelopes which bear a semilegible name. Example: Mary Smith, Greenville. No clue as to whether she lives in Greenville, Michigan, Ohio, Pennsylvania, Mississippi, South Carolina or Kentucky.

You wouldn't believe the mail we forward to other companies—at our own expense. We figure we might as well send the letters to the right company as send it back to the customer.

For a country that has the highest literacy rate in the world, there are sure a lot of people who can't follow a simple set of directions.—Battle Creek

Dear Battle: Your letter is not news to me. Every week I get dozens of stamped envelopes from readers requesting personal replies. They address their envelopes to Ann Landers instead of themselves!

You are wrong about the United States having the highest literacy rate in the world. We are the richest country in the world, but Japan is the most literate. Ashamed? So am I.

Dear Ann Landers: You are going to be judge of this family argument. All parties concerned have agreed to accept your word as final.

answer the telephone. We heard him say, "Yes, I'm going to the track meet; but I'm eating my supper right now and then I've got a lot of homework to do. Good-by." He hung up and returned to the table, red-faced and silent.

His younger brother piped up, "I'll bet that was Debbie. She sure calls up here a lot." Paul didn't answer but it was obvious that the guess was a good one. I then told Paul I thought he had been too abrupt with the girl; and if he didn't want to take her to the track meet, he could have been more gracious about it. The older boy said Paul had handled it right—because "girls who call up boys deserve to be clobbered." Furthermore, he said, "If you are half-way decent to a girl, she thinks she owns you and you can't get rid of her."

Am I right or are the boys right?—Mother Maggie

Dear Mother: Ten years ago I would have sided with you. Today I'm with the boys. Young girls have become so aggressive since you and I were young, Maggie, it's enough to scare a kid out of three years' growth. If Paul wants to be abrupt with girls who chase after him, let him alone.

Law For Today

Q. This women's liberation movement is not for me if it means I'm "free" to work all hours of the day or night. As it is, I work in a hospital from 10:45 p.m. to 7:15 a.m. without even a lunch break. Aren't there women's labor laws against that?

A. Generally, the law says a woman may not be required to work for more than eight hours in a 24-hour period nor more than 48 hours during a week. However, exceptions are provided for certain occupations including graduate nurses, night-shift switchboard operators at telephone companies and professional, executive and administrative personnel, among others.

To determine if a position is an exception to the law, write to the Women's and Children's Employment Division of the Department of Labor, 160 North LaSalle, Room 1400, Chicago 60601.

As to a lunch break, the only labor law which requires that applies exclusively to employed persons under 16 years of age. However, school law requires a lunch break for school teachers.

YOUR BIRTHDAY AND HOROSCOPE

SATURDAY, MAY 30—Born today, you are a highly sensitive person, given perhaps to being too concerned with what others think of you. You have the talents, the ambition, and the clarity of mind needed to make a tremendous success of life; what you need, however, is the spark of individuality to make your own work truly your own. This is not to say that you do not possess individuality; merely that you do not usually employ it. Learn to do so and you will be surprised at the pleasant turn things take.

New places, people, and things hold a fascination for you that may well determine much of what you will do in life. It will be difficult for you to settle down in one place. Even when things are going exceptionally well, you will be inclined to think the grass is greener on the other side of the fence. Ultimately, however, real maturity will bring you satisfaction with what you are doing and where you are doing it.

Although you do not learn new things with exceptional ease, you are deeply interested in whatever is new and current in thought and will make every effort to assimilate what of it you can. Once you have gained something new in the way of knowledge, however, you have an exceptional ability for imparting it to others.

To find what is in store for you tomorrow, select your birthday and read the corresponding paragraph. Let your birthday star be your daily guide.

Sunday, May 31
GEMINI (May 22-June 21)—Take care that fear doesn't keep you from achieving what you otherwise might. Be certain of the course you take.

CANCER (June 22-July 23)—Don't trust any friendship of an impermanent nature. Let those who have proved their trustworthiness guide you at this time.

LEO (July 24-Aug. 23)—Morning worship brings you the confidence you need to accomplish what you intend. Look about you for the strength of others.

VIRGO (Aug. 24-Sept. 23)—Late starters find a special place in the hearts of others, especially when their success comes as a surprise even to them. Take heart.

LIBRA (Sept. 24-Oct. 23)—Remain youthful in your thinking, no matter what you must be in appearance. Intelligently handle a new situation.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22)—Help another to know you better. Openness on your part can lead to friendships essential to your well-being.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 22)—Attend morning worship with friends and family. Don't hesitate to share an insight with one who is in need of companionship.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 23 - Jan. 20)—Know your own mind in respect of your immediate future. Those who can be of help to you should be contacted now.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21-Feb. 19)—Parental objection may not be enough to stop a youngster from harming himself. Look to the future for a sign of present behavior.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 21)—Make every effort to convince a friend that you are the best person for the position that is opening up. He carries much weight.

ARIES (March 22-April 20)—Help another to help himself. An excellent day for coming to the rescue of one who has much to offer if he can only get started.

TAURUS (April 21-May 21)—You can overcome present difficulties by the exploitation of your own general personality. Let charm do the work for you.

Mayor Walks Out On Council At Jerseyville

JERSEYVILLE—Discussion as to prosecution of the violation of zoning and building ordinances triggered fireworks at the meeting of the Jerseyville City Council May 26, and Mayor James Dolan walked out of the meeting.

Councilman Finis Schultz asked the mayor and council what steps could be taken to remedy some of the situations so he could proceed with action and furnish guidelines to other council members who had received and checked into complaints such as junk cars, weeds, unmowed lawns, and a house characterized as a health hazard.

Robert Hartman, zoning administrator and building inspector, told the council the house on East Third street had been brought to his attention some time ago and he had made an investigation. The original complaint by Carey Rhoades of 909 E. Third asked for the house to be condemned, but Hartman's investigation showed that the house would answer city regulations if some minor repairs are completed; and he stopped his investigation when he was told it would be taken care of.

Recently Rhoades renewed his complaint and investigation showed that repairs had not been made. A family had rented the house and, according to Hartman, created a health hazard. Despite the fact the water pipes had frozen and broken and the water and sewer facilities to the house had been disconnected for non-payment, the family continued to live in the place without toilet facilities.

Hartman said the ordinance for prosecution was No. 518, which calls for the mayor to sign the complaint so court action can be started. Mayor Dolan, as in the past, contended it was a Health Department problem and they were the ones to start the action. He has disagreed with the council on the ordinance in the past and refuses to accept their interpretation of the ordinance, which was one of the many passed when the city was complying with federal regulations for federal old age housing.

The argument started when Mayor Dolan questioned City Attorney Phil Moore about notices, charges and allegations against a list of citizens. Most of the notices had been filed by Hartman for allowing junk cars to be housed on residential property. The list contained many names but most had complied with the notices and Moore told the Council that charges would be filed against three other property owners.

JIM WAS GRADUATED TODAY

Mary and I sat on the bleachers overlooking the high school athletic field and watched him march in with his class. A bird glided overhead, and, from far off, a dog's bark and children's voices mingled on the evening air. Behind circling hills, blue mountains made a stately backdrop.

Jim avoided our glance, the habitual grin he's worn since babyhood stifled for a moment in a gaze of earnest solemnity. His first big milestone had come, and I smiled to myself remembering his eagerness to embark upon the "world of tomorrow."

I have no fears for his future . . . for Jim is a Christian. What a wonderful assurance it is to his mother and me to know that wherever he goes, whatever happens in that wonderful "world" ahead, the values and principles he has been taught will be there to guide and sustain him.

How grateful we are to our church for the guidance and encouragement it has given us in the Christian education of our son!

New Party Game— 'The Goodell Shift'

By LEE MUELLER
NEW YORK (NEA) — The best party game in New York these days is the one they call, "What makes Charles Goodell a Republican?"

Senator Goodell is the New York Republican who for the past 19 months has been acting very much like a New York Democrat.

For nearly nine years, he was a pipe-smoking Republican congressman from a little place in western New York (Jamestown). His political attitudes, they say, ranged between conservative and moderate. Then two years ago Sen. Robert F. Kennedy was killed and Gov. Nelson Rockefeller appointed Goodell to serve out his term.

Now Senator Goodell is up for election to a six-year term of his own and, to the surprise of many people, he might win. In the past 19 months, you see, Republican Goodell has convinced much of New York's predominantly liberal electorate that he's as liberal as the next fellow—perhaps more so.

Sideburns grew longer, ties got wider, pants legs got belled and political posture got shifted. Goodell spoke against the draft against the war, against President Nixon's first two Supreme Court nominees, against military waste and for a black mayoral candidate.

In Washington, they now speak casually of the "Goodell shift," a term coined by Arizona Rep. Morris Udall who—discussing strategy before a congressional basketball game—explained:

"The entire team lines up on the right and when the captain shouts the key word 'Senate' one player sprints to the far left and then heads in for an easy basket."

Former White House aide Theodore Sorensen calls Goodell an "overnight liberal." Others say he's just an opportunist.

Goodell, meanwhile, says he doesn't like political labels.

"Sure, I've changed," he has said, many times. "Anybody in politics who hasn't changed during these last 10, tumultuous years just hasn't been living."

In the meantime, however, he continues to call himself a Republican and thereby confuses a lot of us who already have difficulty telling Democrats from Republicans.

It is an old problem, actually. A few years ago, Congressman Andy Jacobs (D-Ind.) of Indianapolis did some research on the difference between a Democrat and a Republican. Despite the advent of fellows like Goodell who insist on blurring the picture, some of the guidelines Jacobs published in the Congressional Record still hold up.

"Democrats," it is said, "give their worn-out clothes to those less fortunate. Republicans wear theirs."

"Republican boys date Democratic girls. They plan to marry Republican girls, but feel they're entitled to a little fun first."

"Most of the stuff you see alongside the road has been thrown out of car windows by Democrats."

"On Saturday, Republicans head for the hunting lodge or the yacht club. Democrats wash the car and get a haircut."

"Republicans raise dahlias, Dalmatians and eyebrows. Democrats raise Airedales, kids and taxes."

"Republicans study the financial pages of the newspaper. Democrats put them in the bottom of the bird cage."

"Republicans consume three-fourths of all the rutabaga produced in this country. The remainder is thrown out."

"Republicans employ exterminators. Democrats step on the bugs."

"Republicans have governesses for their children. Democrats have grandmothers."

"Republicans post all the signs saying NO TRESPASSING and THESE DEER ARE PRIVATE PROPERTY and so on. Democrats bring picnic baskets and start their bonfires with the signs."

Congressman Jacobs, it should be pointed out, has a white picket fence and a water fountain and some goldfish in his Washington office. He appreciates a joke as much as any man. He doubtlessly understands Charles Goodell.

Here is a hand to show experts at their best. The scene was New York's Regency Club. The protagonists were the late Raymond Balfe sitting East and the late Sherman Stearns sitting South.

Ralfe, one of the two or three greatest auction players, never tried contract tournaments but played a lot of rubber bridge. He was noted for his fierce competitive bidding and he was not going to sell out to four hearts when not vulnerable. He bid four spades as a preliminary to running to five clubs if doubled at spades.

Stearns, winner of several Vanderbilts and Spingolts might have doubled four spades and the subsequent run out to five clubs but Stearns didn't know that most of his partner's heart raise was the ace of clubs. It looked to Sherman that five hearts would be a wrap-up.

West opened the six of spades and Sherman saw that he was going to lose a spade trick, a spade ruff and the ace of trumps unless Balfe could be persuaded to shift from spades at trick two. Sherman dropped the king of spades on Raymond's ace.

The play ought to have worked, but it didn't. Raymond looked over dummy carefully. He noted that ace and ten of clubs. His partner surely held at least five clubs for his overcall. Therefore, there was no chance of a club trick.

What would it cost him to set up the jack of spades for a discard? Nothing. South obviously held a heart diamond two suiter and one diamond discard on a spade wouldn't do him a bit of good.

Could Stearns have made a sensational spade false-card? Of course! Balfe led out his queen of spades and Stearns was down one.

Polly's Pointers

Should A Dinner Guest Help With Cleaning Up?

By POLLY CRAMER
DEAR POLLY—I was most interested in Joy's comments about Mrs. B. T.'s complaint about guests who insist on doing the dishes for a hostess who prefers to do them herself. I think Joy's idea that Mrs. B. T. is rude in not appreciating her guests' insistence is entirely wrong. Rudeness works both ways and often guests are plain rude in insisting on doing something against the hostess' wishes. After all, if a woman cannot do things her way in her own home, where can she? There are always two sides to every story.

In my house, when guests help with the dishes, I prefer to wash and let them dry. However, I have had rude guests who literally pushed me out of their way because they preferred washing to drying. I know how I want my stove, counters, etc., and that is part of the washer's job. In another woman's house, I prefer to dry. I just had to let off steam about this sometimes sore point. You are right, the hostess is the boss. Enclosed is a copy of a poem I have pasted inside a cupboard door. I have not shown it to anyone yet, but it makes me feel good to know I am not alone in this feeling. "Please stay away from my kitchen, From my dishwashing, cooking and such, When I ask that you leave me alone; For my kitchen is not any too spacious And my routine is strictly my own. Tell you what: You stay out of my kitchen"

With its sodden, hot lackluster lures. When you're here, stay out of my kitchen And I promise to stay out of yours!" Thanks for such an interesting column.—MRS. C.C.B.

Polly's Problem
DEAR POLLY—I wish some readers would tell me the best way to clean a new stainless steel sink. Mine scratches easily and always has water marks on it.—BETTY CUT GOES HERE

DEAR POLLY—A shallow scratch on a table top can often be disguised by rubbing an ordinary eyebrow pencil over it to fill in the scratch. Finish by hand by rubbing lightly with wax.

When a recipe calls for just a little grated cheese, as for topping, I hate to get out the big grater for such a little job. I whip out the potato peeler and shave off the small amount needed. The wisps are thin enough to melt easily and I can see just the amount needed as I sliver it off.—VICTORIA

THE DOCTOR SAYS Avoid Certain Foods If Gastritis Sufferer

IF GSTRITIS SUFFERER
By Wayne G. Brandstadt, M.D.
Q—My doctor says I have gastritis. I am taking some pills and liquid that taste like chalk and they help me. What foods should I avoid? Can recurrent bouts of gastritis cause a stomach ulcer?

A—Gastritis is usually aggravated by alcohol, excessive smoking, coffee, highly spiced foods and greasy foods. Many persons discover over the years that they have an individual sensitivity to certain foods and learn to avoid them. Peptic ulcers are caused by nervous tension rather than by gastritis.

Q—One doctor told me I have a stomach that lies relatively low in the abdomen and another said there is no such thing. What do you think?

A—Fallen stomach is a misnomer. Some persons especially those who are tall and lean, have a stomach that lies relatively low in the abdomen when they are standing before a fluoroscope screen and the stomach is weighted down with barium sulfate. Since this is not a disease, it requires no treatment.

Q—What causes a shortage of acid in the stomach? I am on a bland diet and take dilute hydrochloric acid with my meals. Is this condition serious? Will I have to take these drops indefinitely?

A—The most common causes of an acid deficiency in the stomach are anemia and chronic gastritis. Another cause is cancer of the stomach, but if you had this your doctor would have ordered surgery rather than drops with your meals. The lack of acid is not serious in itself but you should have periodic red blood cell counts and stomach X rays. As for the drops, you can take them indefinitely if they seem to help you.

Q—Every morning I feel nauseated. My stomach X rays were negative. I am taking Mylanta and Valium but they do not help. What can I do for this?

A—Mylanta is an antacid and Valium is a tranquilizer. There are 10 or more prescription drugs on the market specifically for the control of nausea—thiopropazate (Dartal), prochlorperazine (Compazine), thiethylperazine (Torecan)—but it would help to know whether your nausea is due to anemia, drinking alcohol in the evening, gastritis, gall bladder disease, pancreatitis, postnasal drip or some other cause because for lasting relief you must eliminate the cause.

Please send your questions and comments to Wayne G. Brandstadt, M.D., in care of this paper. While Dr. Brandstadt cannot answer individual letters, he will answer letters of general interest in future columns.

I got along beautifully. She's marvelous."

One of the hazards of being typed as a director of musicals is that the companies are not making musicals right now. The reasons are many, but the major factor is cost.

"Of course musicals are expensive," Minnelli observed. "There is a great deal of cost in rehearsal time, in recording and prerecording. But there's no reason why the cost of musicals must be tremendous. I made 'On a Clear Day' fairly reasonably. About $10 million?"

Ten million dollars is reasonable? Compared to "Hello, Dolly!" perhaps. It ran up a bill of $20 million.

Business — Market Wrapup

New York Stock Market

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market continued to rally Friday and, despite some profit taking, closed sharply higher in active trading.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrials was up 16.29 or 2.38 per cent to 700.44, after having been down more than 6 in early trading.

The last time the average closed above the 700 level was May 18, when it was 702.81.

Friday's market rise, a continuation of the strong rally that began Wednesday, brought the total Dow average gain for the past three days to more than 69 points.

Analysts disagreed over the significance of the market upturn.

Some said the rise was merely technical, since the fundamentals that have driven the market to recent lows—rising inflation, lower corporate profits, and uncertainty in Southeast Asia and the Middle East—remained unchanged.

Others, however, were more optimistic, saying the upswing could signal a reversal of the 18-month market slump.

The fact that the market absorbed early profit taking and ended the day on a sharp upswing was considered a good sign by analysts.

The New York Stock Exchange tape was running two minutes late at the close. Volume on the Big Board totaled 14.63 million shares, compared with Thursday's 18.91 million, which was a high for the year.

Advances numbered 1,118, while only 297 stocks declined and 190 remained unchanged. There were 57 new lows and 8 new highs.

Stocks were up in all categories.

The Associated Press 60-stock average closed up 4.5 to 242.3, with industrials up 8.8, rails up 1.2, and utilities up 1.9. Standard & Poor's 500-stock index was up 1.94 to 76.55.

Fifty-six blocks of 10,000 shares or over were traded, as compared with 85 Thursday.

Largest was a block of 140,000 shares of R. R. Donnelly at 15 1/2, off 1/2. Others included 125,000 shares of Detroit Steel at 16 1/2, up 4 1/2; 117,900 of Petrolane at 29 1/4, off 3 1/4; 101,000 of W. R. Grace at 21 1/4, off 1/2, and 84,200 of Public Service Electric & Gas at 22 1/2, off 1/4.

Prices on the American Stock Exchange also closed higher. The Amex price change index was up 0.35 to 20.71. Advances led declines by a 7 to 2 margin.

Volume Friday was 4.95 million, compared with 6.82 million Thursday, a high for the year.

WASHINGTON (AP) — How long can President Nixon resist the anxious clamor for some kind of "guideposts" or "income policy" to curb soaring prices and calm investors' nerves?

That's the Washington guessing game of the day. Will Nixon's speech on the state of the economy—the talk promised exactly one month ago but not even scheduled for delivery—move his administration toward more intervention in private price and wage decisions?

Some think political pressure may provide the answer. The Democrats already appear to have made inflation a major issue for the fall congressional elections. And a Democratic bill proposes creation of a board authorized to freeze prices and wages for six months. Nixon will reject that resolutely as will the Democratic leaders who recall the price-control bureaucracies which had indifferent success in World War II and the Korean War.

But some administration officials think the White House will modify its hands-off-the-economy policy—possibly to the extent of the "jawbone" kind of persuasion, or the posting of voluntary price and wage benchmarks.

That might happen if Republican candidates begin to complain that the administration's failure to curb inflation is hurting the election chances of the GOP in November or if it appears necessary to adopt mild controls to head off stronger Democratic legislation.

Alarm signals visible to the White House have already been hoisted on the GOP side of Capitol Hill. Three Republican senators—none of them up for election this fall—introduced a bill calling for a mild form of White House surveillance over inflation. Sens. Jacob Javits of New York, Jack Miller of Iowa and Len B. Jordan of Idaho proposed that the President's Council of Economic Advisers be required to speak out publicly on any price boosts or wage settlements with potentially inflationary consequences.

Other Republicans, too prominent to be ignored, have weighed in. Chairman Arthur F. Burns of the Federal Reserve Board has testified that an incomes policy might be necessary temporarily. "Incomes policy" is a European phrase applied to a spectrum of stabilizing systems ranging from outright ceilings to mild but formalized guidelines.

Burns—who went along with the hands-off policy when he was the President's top domestic counselor—now holds that a voluntary curb might be needed, "provided it stopped well short of price and wage controls."

Housing Secretary George Romney also spoke critically of the President's declared neutrality. "We have jawboning, but it has been jawboning against jawboning," Romney complained last week.

Some observers wondered whether the Burns and Romney comments were trial balloons for a switch in White House policy. Not so. Chairman Paul W. McCracken of the President's Council disparaged the mild Javits bill and Treasury Secretary David M. Kennedy took issue with Burns.

MONTROYA CLEARED OF IMMIGRATION PAYOFF CHARGE

By WALTER R. MEARS
AP Political Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Democratic Sen. Joseph M. Montroya is heading into New Mexico's primary election Tuesday with a last-minute campaign bonus from a panel of his Senate colleagues.

The Senate Ethics Committee Thursday issued a report clearing Montroya of any wrongdoing in connection with alleged payoffs for the introduction of special immigration bills.

Senate sources said at least 10 senators testified during the committee investigation, prompted by published reports of bribery for the introduction of bills to head off the deportation of Chinese seamen who jump ship in the United States.

The committee said it found no evidence any senator or employee was bribed to introduce legislation.

The American Wood Council says that when shopping for a new home the housewife should stand in the middle of the kitchen and visualize the family traffic flow. Are the appliances, sink and range conveniently located? Will family helpers get in each other's way? If these questions are answered, she will have a better basis of deciding about the home.

Here's How

By VIVIAN BROWN
AP Newsfeatures Writer

Summer is a prime time for prowlers and crimes committed by them. Good weather may throw the most vigilant people off guard. Many housewives have become victims of the friendly looking face that appeared at the door asking to make a telephone call. An unlocked door makes the prowler's job easier. Many families don't own a key to their house nor do they have locks on their doors.

An intruder who wants to make a telephone call may be a prowler who is surprised that you are at home. And housewives should be aware that a prowler can be a dangerous criminal.

A law enforcement bulletin of the Federal Bureau of Investigation points out that the danger of the lurking prowler is the element of uncertainty—the unknown. Whatever he may encounter usually determines the course of his actions.

... He may be only a Peeping Tom, but this may lead to murder.

... He may be a thief and end up a child molester.

The psychopathic prowler is one who has inner tensions building up inside and from which he must find release by movement. Those inner tensions he seeks to ease by moving about may lead to burglary, theft or sex offenses. Circumstances determine his actions.

A thief frequently is satisfying inner compulsions to take anything he can find. The articles—bicycles, garden equipment, Christmas tree lights—may be of little value to him, but the mere act of taking them satisfies an inner compulsion, a need, a hunger.

... The burglar is another type of prowler, the booklet points out. He may be expert or novice. The expert usually has a house staked out, is familiar with exits and entrances, works according to a carefully laid plan, and will do anything to avoid encounter with the owner of the house. But novices may kill or injure in their fear of arrest.

... The robber intends to take by force anything he sets out to take, and usually at the point of a knife or gun. He will even use a club or noose.

One type of robber is a mugger who gives his victims no opportunity to act. He strikes from behind with the intention of injuring the victim and taking money or valuables.

... Sadists or flagellants use the holdup as a means for satisfying sadistic tendencies. They derive great satisfaction in beating a helpless, terrified victim. Money and valuables are merely secondary considerations.

In the FBI pamphlet, prepared for law enforcement officers, there are a number of pointers on tricks that may be used by prowlers. These include:

... He may trespass by walking a dog and then pretend the dog ran on your property.

He may assume the guise of a door-to-door salesman (such prowlers have been responsible for rapes, child molestations, robberies, assaults).

... He may pose as a painter or delivery man. (One notorious sex criminal stated that he always wore a painter's cap and coveralls because this gave him an apparently legitimate reason to frequent empty houses and it made it difficult for his young victim to recognize him—the person sees the uniform and seldom the face.)

A prowler may be in a car that has "broken down" in front of your house, he may be the young man running along the road in sweat clothes or he may appear in women's clothes.

Baby-sitters should be instructed on how to deal with strangers who come to the door under one pretext or another. Many baby-sitters have been raped, murdered, beaten, kidnapped, says this FBI bulletin.

How can you foil prowlers? Local police may provide clues, but here are some additional ones:

A yapping dog may frighten off a prowler. It is also a good reason for not opening the door to a knock. "Our dog may bite" ... may be an ominous warning to a prowler. (Some women put a little sign over the door buzzer. "Beware of the Dog.")

A chain on the door is a great help. You can open it and talk to the person outside without giving him a shoe-in.

You should lock the door when you go out even for a few minutes so that you will not be surprised by an intruder when you return.

If your husband is away from home, leave a light or two on at night. Few burglars will risk entering a house with a light on at night, one police officer points out.)

If lights are out and you hear a prowler, you should call the police before lighting the lights.

Your family's silent partner

Lying there on the doorstep, it can't speak. Or Move. Or Hear. But open it in your hands and it becomes a living, powerful partner in daily living. In the decisions you make, the opinions you form.

It takes you to the highest chambers of government. It takes you to the bloodiest streets of warring countries. It takes you to the heart of history in the making. In short, it tells you what in the world is happening and why.

But people depend on it for needs beyond the need to know. It's where families turn when something's to be bought or sold. It's where hints on health, cooking, religion, amusements, dressmaking, etiquette, marriage are found.

It's where charities first turn for help, and a place where a letter to the editor is published. It's where campaigns are fought and lost dogs are found. It's where criminals are exposed and newlyweds applauded. Where birth and death meet on the same page.

It's your newspaper, silent partner of the family, yet one that says so much, does so much for so many people — every day without fail.

Former Argentine President Kidnaped

BUENOS AIRES (AP) — Ex-president Pedro Eugenio Aramburu was kidnaped from his home Friday, apparently by extremist followers of former Argentine dictator Juan D. Peron — a man he helped overthrow.

Twelve hours after Aramburu, 67, disappeared, a group called the Juan Jose Valle Command announced it seized the former president and would submit him to a "revolutionary tribunal."

It made no offers to exchange him for political prisoners.

Aramburu served as provisional president of Argentina for 30 months after Peron was overthrown in a 1955 military coup.

The military government of President Juan Carlos Onganía issued a statement "energetically condemning" the kidnapping. It instructed the nation's security forces to take all necessary steps to "clear up the incident and identify those responsible."

The government also called on news media to cooperate in "avoiding the creation of a climate contrary to the required public tranquility."

Even as the regime issued the appeal, a communique was being distributed to newspapers saying the Juan Jose Valle command seized the former president.

Addressed to "The people of the nation," the communique

Israeli Planes Raid Egyptian Canal Positions

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Israeli planes raided Egyptian positions along the Suez Canal and the Red Sea Friday, killing three Egyptian soldiers and wounding seven others, the Egyptian military command announced.

Israel said all its planes returned safely.

Earlier, Israeli troops killed 10 members of a Syrian guerrilla band that crossed into the Jewish state from Jordan about 12 miles south of the Sea of Galilee, the Israeli military command reported.

It said the Arabs apparently were headed toward the Israeli settlement of Maoz Haim when the patrolling Israelis encountered them. No Israeli casualties were reported.

On the Egyptian front, Israeli warplanes struck a major Egyptian naval port in the Safage area of the Red Sea coast and installations along the Suez Canal during sorties that lasted nearly an hour.

Later, Tel Aviv said, the aircraft returned to the canal zone for a 70-minute strike against Egyptian positions.

Egypt acknowledged the raids and announced the casualties in a military statement distributed by the Mideast News Agency.

Cairo claimed Egyptian artillery destroyed some Israeli positions south of the Bitter Lakes and inflicted heavy losses on Israeli men and equipment.

The military command in Tel Aviv said only three Israeli soldiers were wounded in the exchange of fire.

The Israelis said a number of shells were fired from Jordanian territory at the border settlement of Yardenia, 15 miles south of Galilee. There were no casualties and fire was returned, a spokesman said.

Lester Maddox To Picket Paper Offices Soon

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — Gov. Lester Maddox, declaring The Atlanta Journal and The Atlanta Constitution have "waged constant war" against him, said Friday he will personally picket the newspapers next week.

"As soon as the signs are ready," he said, "I'm going over there and demonstrate for days and hours against those fishwappers."

Obviously angered by the opposition of both newspapers to the special legislative session he plans to call, the governor also banned sales of both papers from "all state property."

He accused the newspapers of "the lowest, yellow, crooked journalism" and called on all Georgians to drop their subscriptions to the two Atlanta papers, the largest in the state, for the month of July.

He said the papers' editorial policy was not only "against Lester Maddox," but has contributed to the unrest in this country and, in particular, to the recent riots in Augusta, Ga., where six blacks were killed.

William I. Ray, executive vice president and general manager of the newspapers, said: "We believe in the freedom of the press, including the freedom of others to criticize us. Thus we gave complete coverage on page one to Gov. Maddox's criticism. We will continue to make our papers available to the public for purchase and will defend our freedom to do so."

Cambodia Alcetraz Island Indians Call For Pow Wow

Generally light action was reported in South Vietnam and by U.S. troops cleaning out enemy base areas in Cambodia before the start of the monsoon rains.

Some rain already has fallen, but officers say it has not been enough to seriously hamper operations in eastern Cambodia, where roads and trails built up by the North Vietnamese and Viet Cong have provided good access routes for allied armored vehicles.

Military weathermen say the monsoon should be in full swing within a week. At the height of the monsoon season, rainfalls average about 16 inches a month.

Allied headquarters claim that the Cambodian offensive, now nearly a month old, has resulted in the capture of about 17,000 enemy individual weapons, 2,145 crew-served weapons, over 1,000 tons of ammunition, nearly 5,000 tons of rice, more than 300 vehicles and 15 tons of medical supplies.

The allies say they have killed nearly 10,000 enemy troops in Cambodia. Total allied losses were reported at 227 U.S. and 524 South Vietnamese troops killed and 839 Americans and 2,236 Vietnamese wounded.

In Vietnam, military sources said Laotian government guerrillas had cut one highway used as part of the Ho Chi Minh trail in south-central Laos and had ambushed North Vietnamese troops headed south for Cambodia or South Vietnam.

The government's withdrawal followed U.S. Secretary of Labor Walter J. Hickel's announcement that the crumbling cellblocks would be torn down for creation of a national park to give "particular emphasis to the contribution of the American Indians."

The school has over 40,000 students.

The suit also asks whether it is a misapplication of taxpayers' funds to "pay monies and continue the employment of professors and other teaching assistants at OSU (who are making speeches which motivate the...mass crowds to violence, disorder, property damage and disruption of the educational objectives of OSU..." The suit claims that "in view of the tense and dangerous conditions at OSU...individual defendants do not have the constitutionally protected freedom to make speeches likely to lead to further disruptions."

"Our purpose in filing this suit," said John A. Coppel, 22, a senior journalism major who heads the group, "is mainly to assert the rights of student's who wish to pursue their educational goals in an atmosphere free of intimidation and violence."

Coppel said he hopes the lawsuit will establish a precedent for students throughout the nation.

ARTIFICIAL TEETH
CHICAGO (AP) — A new process of implanting artificial teeth into the bone, its developer says, makes for better health because of better digestion due to more natural chewing.

Dr. Leonard L. Linkow demonstrated his technique to Chicago dentists under the sponsorship of the Institute for Advanced Dental Research. His invention of a blade implant enables artificial teeth to fit into the gumline. The implants are possible for a single tooth or a complete set of upper and lower teeth, he said. The installations become permanent.

Army Officers Charged With Attempted Murder

FT. BENNING, Ga. (AP) — Two officers face charges of attempted murder in connection with a shooting incident last year in South Vietnam's Mekong Delta.

The Army accused Capt. Vincent N. Hartmann, 34, of Scranton, Pa., and 1st Lt. Robert G. Lee Jr., 22, of Springfield, Mo., Thursday of "ordering members of their command to fire into buildings used for human habitation on or about June 15, 1969." They were then with the 9th Infantry Division.

The maximum penalty for attempted murder is 20 years.

Col. Charles C. Thebaud, commander of the Ft. Benning Army Infantry School Brigade, to which the men are now assigned, has ordered a grand jury type investigation to determine whether the two officers should be tried by court-martial.

The alleged shooting incident has been under investigation since last fall. Army sources acknowledged it was brought to the Army's attention by Rep. Lionel Van Deerlin, D-Calif.

Van Deerlin informed the Army that a captain in the Medical Corps told him of an infantry company being ordered to use a Vietnamese village for target practice.

Pentagon sources said two Vietnamese civilians, a woman and a boy, were wounded. The woman reportedly died later.

The shots allegedly were fired at two huts out of five in a small village.

Van Deerlin said in an interview in California Thursday "men, women and children came running from the huts as the firing continued."

He said he was told that an officer ordered the firing on the village with the comment that his men "hadn't had much action lately."

The time at which the Army says the actions took place was more than a year after the alleged My Lai massacre in which more than 102 South Vietnamese civilians were reported killed. My Lai is several hundred miles from the Mekong Delta.

The Army said Hartmann, married and the father of two, was in Vietnam from December 1966 to December 1967 as a member of the Special Forces, and returned there in January 1969.

He won a Silver Star, the nation's third highest medal for bravery, the Bronze Star with four oak leaf clusters, the Purple Heart with two clusters, the Air Medal with four clusters and other decorations.

Lee is married but has no children, the Army said. He first served as an enlisted man and received a commission in 1968 from the Officer Candidate School at Ft. Benning.

He was in South Vietnam from October 1968 until December 1969. He received the Bronze Star, the Air Medal and the Purple Heart.

Continue Search For 5 Men Lost In Explosion

GALVESTON, Tex. (AP) — The search continued Friday for five men missing in an offshore oil rig explosion and fire that killed four workers. Memorial Day visitors to the coast found workers fighting an oil slick that endangered a mile of Galveston's beaches.

The explosion Thursday ruptured a storage tank on the platform and dumped the oil into the Gulf of Mexico, 12 miles from Galveston, one of Texas' top tourist attractions. By late afternoon, the pollution battle appeared won.

Five men still were missing from the explosion and fire. Rescuers helped 17 escape.

Houston policeman Ed A. Holdgraf and a group of conventioning Shriners rescued 15 of the men from the sea.

They were on a boat ride on the Princess Patsy about 1,000 yards from the oil platform when the platform exploded and threw up a ball of fire Holdgraf described as 500 to 600 feet high.

He said he and the Shriners threw lifejackets to the men in the water but this was no help to three.

"They were burned so horribly they couldn't see me," said Holdgraf. "They were floating around. I threw out life jackets they threw up their arms and screamed, then went under."

The Coast Guard called for hay to absorb the oil on the beaches. A company employed to clean up the beaches hired teen-agers to place the hay along a stretch of a mile. Long-haired young men and girls in bikinis joined the workers without pay.

In early afternoon, Capt. Lee Bracken, commander of the Coast Guard station, said it appeared the slick had broken up into small patches "and there's not one big defined slick. There's not enough pollution coming in to hurt anything now."

The hay readily absorbed the oil and was disposed of. Mechanical scoops picked up sand where it already was saturated with the black, gummy oil and carried it away to be dumped.

French Police Seek Professor After Rioting

PARIS (AP) — French police launched a nationwide hunt Friday for Maoist leader Alain Geismar and warned all frontier posts he was banned from leaving the country.

Geismar, 31, was a leader of the 1968 student uprising with Daniel "Danny the Red" Cohn-Bendit, and latterly has led the Proletarian Left movement which was banned Wednesday by Interior Minister Raymond Marcellin.

Early this week he called for street demonstrations in the trial of two fellow leaders of the movement, who drew jail terms for their responsibility in editing the movement's news sheet, allegedly inciting crimes against the state, and provoking violence. Geismar sent a message to the court saying he would "give my testimony in the street."

Two days and nights of rioting by their extremist supporters in Paris and some provincial cities left university buildings, a bank and many cars wrecked in Paris, and hundreds of demonstrators under police questioning, with many injured.

No formal charges have yet been laid against Geismar, who currently is "wanted for questioning." A doctor of physics who holds a post of lecturer at Paris University, he has had no fixed address in recent months, being housed by friends in the movement and traveling constantly around France. He has also visited many European countries, as well as Cuba.

Junior College Players Enroll At Edwardsville

EDWARDSVILLE — Eight junior college basketball stars have decided to enroll at Southern Illinois University next fall, Jimmie Dudley, new varsity cage coach of the Cougars, has announced.

Four of the eight played for Dudley at Lake Land Junior College in Mattoon, Ill., where the young (32) coach won 65 of 85 games in three seasons. They are Jerry Bloemer, 20, 6-4, from Effingham's St. Anthony High, leading rebounder this past year; Gene Bounds, 20, 6-7, Dieterich (Ill.) High, second leading rebounder; Otis Ward, 20, 6-3, from Westview High, Kankakee, Ill., the school's second highest career scorer and third best rebounder; and Denny Thorneburg, 19, 6-2, from Westfield High, who averaged 11 points a game and shot .872 from the free throw line. Thorneburg will be a sophomore, while the three others will enter the junior class this fall.

Giving the 1970-71 Cougars some much-needed height will be 6-8 Jim Brown from Wabash Valley Junior College, Mt. Carmel, Ill. Brown, a Chillicothe, Ill., high school graduate, led his team in rebounds and was the second best point-maker.

Three natives of Missouri are included in the eight junior college transfers. Gayland Lightfoot, 20, 6-2, a native of Bolivar, Mo., and John Nelson, 20, 6-4½, from St. Louis' Ritenour High, are both transfers from State Fair Junior College, Sedalia, Mo. Tony Kraus, 20, 6-4, a graduate of St. Louis' Prep High South, played the past two seasons for Meremac Junior College, St. Louis.

Lightfoot led State Fair in games played, assists, free throws made and was the team's second highest scorer. Nelson set two new school records: free throws (136) and most points (314).

Kraus was Meremac's leading scorer with a 16.5 point per game average and leading rebounder with 10 per game. He was named to the junior college conference all-star team and was selected on the Region 16 all-stars.

Peterson Named Athletic Head At Western Ill.

MACOMB — Gil Peterson, 40, head football coach and director of athletics and physical education at Huron College, Huron, S.D., has been named director of athletics at Western Illinois University, effective Aug. 1.

His appointment is subject to the confirmation of the Illinois board of Governors of State Colleges and Universities meeting June 11 in Springfield.

Peterson will assume the athletic administrative duties presently being performed by Dr. Harry G. Fritz, who will devote his full attention to serving as dean of Western's School of Health, Physical Education and Recreation, said Dr. James R. Connor, provost and academic vice president. The athletic director will be responsible to Connor.

Gil Peterson

"I'm really enthusiastic about the opportunity of being part of building a championship athletic program at Western Illinois University," said Peterson, when informed of his selection today at Huron.

Peterson's football teams have won three South Dakota Intercollegiate Conference (SDIC) championships and six of his players have gained Little All-American recognition. He was named South Dakota Coach of the Year and District 12 NAIA Coach of the year in 1964.

A native of Plattsmouth, Neb., he attended the University of Omaha, where he participated in football. Peterson signed a contract with the San Francisco 49ers, but his professional football career was cut short by an ankle injury.

He moved to Huron in 1953 as a field representative for the Grain Dealers Mutual Insurance Company. He joined the Huron College football coaching staff the following year and served under Jim Long until taking over the top post in 1960.

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — Soft-spoken Al Unser, the newest darling of the cultists, will be the slight favorite Saturday when 33 drivers crank up their high-powered engines for the 54th Indianapolis 500-mile race.

Unser, only one day past his 31st birthday, and the fastest field ever assembled at this shrine of motor sports will get the green flag at 12 noon EDT. Regardless of the weather 300,000 or so faithful will be on hand to watch it.

The field averaged 167.139 miles per hour in four days of qualifying, with Unser's 170.221 m.p.h. giving him the pole and the inside shot at the first lap lead.

On the front row with him will be 32-year-old Johnny Rutherford of Fort Worth, Tex., who surprised everyone but himself by narrowly missing the pole at 170.213; and A. J. Foyt, going for an unprecedented fourth victory in this richest of all speed spectacles.

There are two other former winners in up-front starting positions, 1968 champion Bobby Unser and 1969 titleholder Mario Andretti.

Andretti starts eighth in a German-built McNamara-Ford that has never raced before. He'll be bucking other odds, too: No driver has posted back-to-back wins at Indy since Bill Vukovich did it in 1953-54.

Bobby Unser, whose 168.508 qualifying speed gave him seventh spot, will be in a three-year-old Eagle-Ford. He considered it more trustworthy than the new Eagle he had prepared for the race.

Andretti's average speed for the 1969 race was 156.867 m.p.h. and most observers believe Saturday's pace will be considerably faster. The 31-year-old Italian immigrant's winner's check was $206,727 and this, too, could go up this year.

There are other pre-race favorites, some rated high because of their driving ability, some because of their cars. Mark Donohue, a 33-year-old graduate engineer from Media, Pa., who won rookie honors for a seventh place finish in 1969, has a meticulously-prepared Lola-Offy put together by master craftsman Roger Penske. He starts from the middle of the second row after qualifying at 168.911 m.p.h.

Dan Gurney, America's premier road racer, will drive a new Eagle-Offy of his own design. He finished second in both 1968 and 1969 and his practice speed near the 169 m.p.h. mark makes him a contender.

Old Indy favorite Lloyd Ruby had engine problems during the first weekend of qualifying and didn't get into the lineup until a week ago. But when he did, it was with a blast—168.895 m.p.h., the sixth fastest four-lap average of the month. It relegated the 42-year-old Texan to 25th position, from which he is expected to charge to the front.

European designer-driver Bruce McLaren brought three new cars from his shops near London, with New Zealander Chris Amon and two-time world driving champ Denis Hulme assigned to drive them.

Hulme, however, was burned in a practice accident and Amon left the team in disgust, saying he didn't like the Speedway. New York socialite driver Peter Revson qualified one of the cars in 16th position while veteran Indy pilot Carl Williams qualified the other one.

Also back in the pack and making his fourth start is three-time world champ Jack Brabham of Australia. The 44-year-old veteran brought a british-looking Brabham-Offy that ran in practice as high as 167 m.p.h. Brabham had only a week to get it ready for qualifying but managed to obtain a 26th start.

There are also four rookies in the field, including Alabama's Donnie Allison, who won the World 600-mile stock car race at Charlotte, N.C., last Sunday.

Also among the starters is stock car ace LeeRoy Yarborough, who co-drove Allison's Charlotte winner.

Foyt has four cars in the race. He qualified his own Coyote-Ford on the outside of the first row at 170.004 m.p.h., while George Snider got a sister car into the fourth row at 167.660. Allison is the third team driver, while Foyt came to the rescue of veteran Jim McElreath on the final day of qualifying by allowing him to put the team's backup car into the field. It starts in last place.

The 33 starters are all that is left of an original 84 entries.

Mills Captures One-Stroke Lead In Woman's Golf

WINCHESTER, Va. (AP) — Former U.S. Women's Open champion Mary Mills clipped three strokes off par on the front nine and finished with a four-under-par 68 Friday for a one-stroke lead after the first round of the 54-hole O'Sullivan Open golf tournament.

Miss Mills, who was out in 33 and back in 35 over the 5,948-yard, par 36—72 Winchester Country Club layout, was one shot ahead of Australian Mergie Masters, who had nines of 34—35.

Another stroke back at 70 with a birdie on each nine was Kathy Whitworth, the all-time leading money winner on the LPGA tour.

Tempered Yankee Top Pick For Realization

WESTBURY, N.Y. (AP) — Winner of four straight, Tempered Yankee, was rated the 2-1 early favorite Friday for the $98,835 Realization Pace for 4-year-olds at Roosevelt Raceway Saturday night.

Eight others have been entered in the 1 1-16 mile event—the richest purse of the year for 4-year-old pacers.

Tempered Yankee, with Vernon Dancer at the reins, will have to overcome the disadvantage of the outside post—No. 8—on the half-mile track. The son of Tar Heel-See Adios has a 2:00 1-5 mile to his credit this season.

Laverne Hanover, the 1968 2-year-old champion who hasn't won once in five starts this season, was made the 5-2 second choice. Billy Haughton will handle the son of Tar Heel-Lavish Hanover from the No. 4 post.

Bye Bye Sam, winner of three of six starts this year, was rated the 3-1 third choice although Stanley Dancer will have to rein him from the only post in the second tier. Only eight can go in the first tier.

The rest of the field includes Historic Time, 8-1; Santa's Fury, 8-1; Going Thru, 30-1; The Commissioner, 30-1; Penn Hanover, 20-1; and Hammerin Hank, 20-1.

Frosh-Soph Win IBSSS Olympics

Led by Bob Leveston, who paced the scoring for the underclassmen with 20 points, the freshman-sophomore team decisively downed the Juniors-Eight Grade squad 100-7 in the Senior Olympics held at the Illinois Braille and Sight Saving School Friday afternoon.

Leveston set three records as he scored four firsts. He set records in taking first place in the hop, step, and jump, the basketball throw, and the 50-yard dash, and added a first in the one-step high jump for his individual high point total.

Jay Talley and Dan Thompson established a record in the mile tandem run with a 6:43 mark, with Talley contributing 11 points in all with a first place in the shot put.

Chuck McClintock also contributed 11 points to the frosh-soph cause, including first place in the three consecutive jumps.

Steve Howells with 9½ points, Howard Denning and Chuck Mattson with eight and Al Spann with six points rounded out the scoring for the underclassmen.

Spoon River Championship Ends In Tie

HAVANA — On the pitching and hitting of Gary Wessel, visiting Beardstown took a 2-0 lead at the end of the first inning and never fell behind on the way to recording a 4-3 victory over Havana that ties the two teams for the championship of the Spoon River Conference.

Wessel accounted for one of the Tiger runs in the top of the first as he hit a double for one RBI in the two run inning, while he gave up one run to Havana in the first and fourth innings. Neal Lamb pushed the winning runs across in the top of the fifth with a two-run double off Stephens, the starting pitcher for Havana.

The victory knots Beardstown in the loop lead with Havana as both teams hold identical 6-2 records in the Spoon River Conference.

Beardstown is now 14-6 overall.

Personality Tries To Add Jersey Derby

CHERRY HILL N.J. (AP) — Personality, a real work horse, goes after the second leg of his own version of the Triple Crown in Saturday's $100,000 - added Jersey Derby at Garden State Park.

After finishing a disappointing eighth in the first in thoroughbred racing's Triple Crown, the John Jacobs-trained colt went on to win the Preakness and will go in next Saturday's Belmont, the other two legs. So, for Personality the Jersey Derby will have to substitute for the Louisville classic.

Personality, a Beiber-Jacobs stable entry with High Echelon, is the 8-5 choice in a field of eight 3-year-olds with all carrying 126 pounds. Eddie Belmonte will ride Personality.

This will be the sixth race in eight weeks for the son of Hail To Reason a heavy schedule for a horse so highly rated. But Jacobs insists that his colt has held up very well, or he wouldn't have run him.

Jacobs hopes the Jersey outing serves as a good prep for the June 6 Belmont.

Personality's main opposition in the 1 1-8 mile test is expected to come from running mate High Echelon, Hagley, Sonny Werblin's Silent Screen and Corn Off the Cob, with the winner getting $83,460.

Hagley, with Ron Turcotte up and four victories in as many starts at Garden State the past two years, is the second choice with Silent Screen and rider John Rotz the third pick. Chuck Baltazar will handle High Echelon, whose regular rider, Larry Adams, is committed to ride in New York.

Corn Off the Cob, owned by Theodore Gary of Chicago, finished seventh in the Kentucky Derby and was held out of the Preakness, but has three victories and four seconds in nine races this year.

The Memorial Day card features several other top stakes races, including the $100,000 added Metropolitan Mile at Belmont.

With 1969 horse of the year Arts and Letters out with an injury, Nodouble and Reviewer hold the favorite role in the 77th running of the Met Mile, the first of three races that comprise the handicap triple crown.

Verna Lee Farms' well-traveled Nodouble, topweight at 126 pounds with Jockey Jorge Tejeira, finished second to Arts and Letters in this race last year.

Braulio Baeza will be aboard Ogden Phipps' Reviewer, who has raced only 11 times in three years, but never finished worse than third.

Manager Lefty Phillips of the California Angels was born in Los Angeles in 1919.

Manager Charley Metro of the Kansas City Royals was born in Nanty-Glow, Pa., in 1919.

Dodgers to an 8-6 victory over the St. Louis Cardinals Friday night.

Sizemore's hit down the third base line scored Jim Lefebvre, who had singled opening the inning off Cardinal reliever Billy McCool.

Wills' hit was in the same spot scoring Sizemore as the Dodgers fought back from a 5-4 deficit after blowing a 4-0 lead.

Los Angeles jumped on Cardinal starter Nelson Briles for three runs off two walks, Manny Mota's single and Willie Davis' triple in the first inning.

The Dodgers extended their lead to 4-0 in the second inning but were tied by a four-run Cardinal burst in the second.

McDaniel Lets Yankees Down Minnesota 4-2

ST. PAUL-MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — Reliever Lindy McDaniel shut the door on hard-hitting Minnesota Friday night as the New York Yankees survived two home runs by the Twins' Rick Renick to post a 4-2 victory.

McDaniel held the Twins scoreless for 3 2-3 innings in relief of starter and winner Mike Kekich, 1-1, giving up only one hit.

Kekich allowed six hits in the 5 1-3 innings he worked, but two of those blows were Renick's home runs.

Renick belted his first round-tripper in the fourth frame, a 380-foot shot in the pavilion in left. He followed that with a 393-foot smash to left center in the sixth.

The Yankees collected three runs and seven hits off Minnesota starter Jim Perry, 6-4 but two of the tallies were unearned.

Leo's Remarks Upset Wrigley

CHICAGO (AP) — "There was no call for Leo to say anything about it, I told the players to go along with the interests of all the players."

That was owner Phil Wrigley's reaction Friday to a scolding Manager Leo Durocher gave his Chicago Cubs for rejecting, 22-3, the major league owners' original agreement offer to the Players' Association.

Durocher disclosed he sat in on a Cub players' meeting Thursday and reprimanded them for making "a fine man (Wrigley) feel bad" by siding with every other club except the Philadelphia Phils in voting down the owners' first proposal earlier this month.

The Cubs Thursday reportedly voted to accept the latest offer from the owners, as advised by the Association's leader, Marvin Miller.

"Considering everything Mr. Wrigley has done for them, and I don't mean just little things, the Cubs should have given the man a vote of confidence," Leo said he told the players.

"I thought our club had voted in favor of it, but I found they had turned it down and I had to tell them what I thought."

Wrigley, reached at his country home in Lake Geneva, Wis., first learned of Leo trying to go to bat for him from The Associated Press.

Mets, was forced to leave the game with two out in the fifth when he was struck on the elbow by Jerry Grote's single.

Billingham came on to complete the shutout and gained credit for the victory. Seaver, who lost his third straight, is now 7-4 for the season.

The Astros ganged up on the Mets' ace for four runs in the fifth inning with Doug Rader's leadoff homer starting the rally.

Allen, Unser Pace Senators By Royals, 5-4

WASHINGTON (AP) — Bernie Allen tied the game with a two-run single in the 12th inning and scored on Del Unser's two-out single, giving the Washington Senators a 5-4 victory over the Kansas City Royals Friday night.

The Royals took a 4-2 lead on Joe Keough's two-run homer in the top of the 12th, but Washington quickly countered on Aurelio Rodriguez' single, a double by Jim French and Allen's single to right, tying it 4-4.

Pinch hitter Dave Nelson walked and Bob Johnson, the seventh Kansas City pitcher, retired Ed Brinkman on a pop fly before Unser delivered the winning run with a single through the box.

Cards Swap Gagliano For Abernathy

ST. LOUIS (AP) — The St. Louis Cardinals have traded utility infielder Phil Gagliano to the Chicago Cubs for right-handed relief pitcher Ted Abernathy, General Manager Bing Devine said Friday.

Abernathy, a 37-year-old veteran fireballer, appeared in 11 games this year for the Cubs, gaining a 2.0 ERA. His lifetime record in the majors is 46 victories against 56 defeats.

Gagliano, 28, appeared in 18 games for the Redbirds this year, collecting six hits in 32 at-bats for a .187 average.

Leo's Remarks Upset Wrigley

"I talked to some of our players. I told them when the matter came to a vote, they should go along with the interest of all the players."

The club owner seemed irked as he added: "There was no call for Leo to say anything about it."

Another quarrel was heard from, chiding Durocher, as an unidentified Cub was quoted by Chicago Today's baseball writer Jim Enright, as saying:

"I didn't know Leo had such a short memory when it comes to turning against Mr. Wrigley. None of us accompanied Leo on that camping trip last year. And Mr. Wrigley didn't ask us for an apology like he did of Leo."

The reference was to a trip Durocher made to a Wisconsin boys' camp during a weekend series here with the Los Angeles Dodgers. Leo then explained he had planned to attend a ceremony involving his young stepson without missing a game, but left during a Saturday matinee with the Dodgers because of illness.

Enright further quoted the player as saying: "Maybe Leo does or doesn't know that some players went to Mr. Wrigley before the 1969 season and sought his counsel on the pension situation at the time."

"He (Wrigley) stressed that 'when you are a member of an association, the first thing you must remember is principle—for yourself as well as all the members.'"

NEA Sports Editor

NEW YORK — (NEA) — Shock hit first, followed by fuddlement, outrage and anger, in very rapid order. Alderman Clarence M. Miller recently asked the Milwaukee Common Council to approve an ordinance which would provide a $500 fine or 90 days in jail for anyone caught shooting baskets at an outdoor hoop in an alley.

If it comes to pass, it would be the most popular law since England taxed our tea. And now, in that town of gemutlichkeit, the burghers are incensed, as if someone requested to destroy their beer taps.

Letters poured in to Alderman Miller. One, tear-stained, from a very young lass, implored that the ordinance not be passed because playing in the alley was a favorite date with her boy friend.

Indignation was especially rampant among fathers. Since the Milwaukee Bucks came to town two years ago as an expansion team, and primarily since last season when the Bucks paid $1.4 million for elongated center Lew Alcindor, basketball enthusiasm has flourished.

"Now," said Miller, "Every father has his son out playing basketball because he feels that if Lew can get all that money, so can his son. And last Christmas, basketballs and hoops were very popular gifts."

"All our alleys are lighted now. And since we don't have enough adequate playground space for all those who want to play, alleys have become necessary places to hook up a backboard and basket."

But complaints, particularly from elderly citizens, began streaming across the alderman's desk: the thump of the ball kept many awake; one woman grumbled that as soon as she replaced one $16 window in her garage, it was shattered again by a wayward pass. Another bemoaned the tramping of freshly planted flower beds.

And kids were playing into all hours of the night. There was even a group of teen-agers who, upon finishing their late rounds of delivering pizzas, assembled for a hot game of hoops, attendant with cries of foul and assorted whoops, at 3 a.m. Neighbors woke with a start and thought World War III was erupting in their kitchens.

Police were called. "But," said Miller, "officers have boys, too. And they were often out shooting baskets with them."

Miller explained emphatically that he likes basketball as well as the next nut and did not intend an outright ban. His sole purpose was to get an all-out ruling, once and for all, on exactly how long into the night the boom-boom of a basketball will be tolerated.

He added that even Alcindor must have played basketball on an alley hoop. And so have most of the rest of us. In the warm evening air, there is nothing so delicious as the feeling of a ball on one's fingertips, and the salty taste of sweat on one's lips, and sinking a basket to the rattle of the rim.

(And even on wintry evenings, there is something almost mystical under the white of stars and snowflakes and heaving a shot with gloved hand against the wet dull of the backboards.)

Alley basketball has even entered our literature. In "Rabbit Run," John Updike begins his novel: "Boys are playing basketball around a telephone pole with a backboard bolted to it. Legs, shouts. The scrape and snap of Keds on loose alley pebbles seems to catapult their voices high into the moist March air blue above the wires."

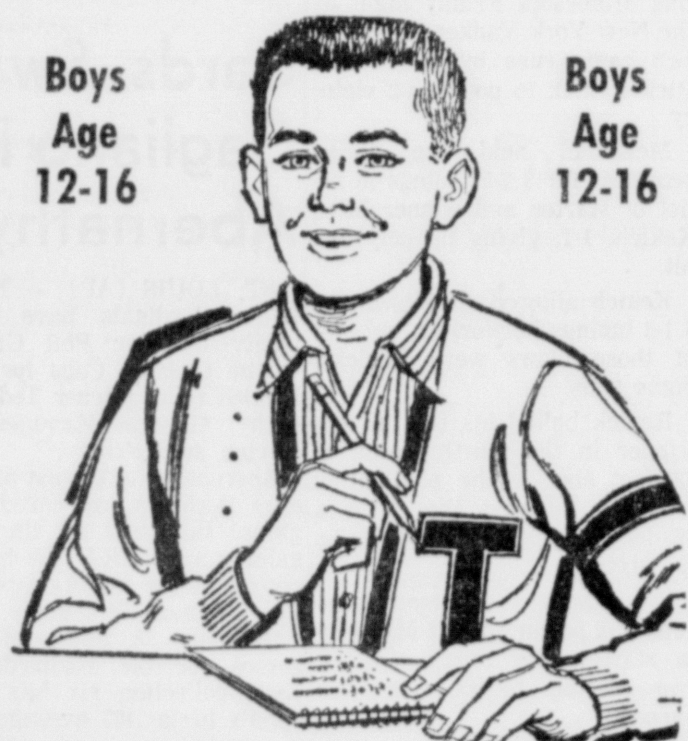

So the game is a growing and loved American tradition, and kids should play to their little hearts' content—as long as they keep out of my damn alley. It's my strange custom to be asleep at three in the morning.

Carty's Homer Lifts Atlanta Over Phils 5-2

ATLANTA (AP) — Rico Carty cracked a two-run homer capping a four-run Atlanta rally that moved the Braves to a 5-2 victory over Philadelphia Friday night in a game delayed three times by rain.

Chris Short was leading 2-1 going into the seventh inning before the Braves knocked him out with a four-run spurt capped by Carty's 11th homer of the year.

Mike Lum opened the seventh with a single and was forced at second. Gil Garrido followed with a single but Short then got the second out of the inning. Then Hank Aaron doubled for two runs and Carty followed with his homer.

Pat Jarvis, 5-3, survived rain delays of 45 minutes in the fifth to go the distance for the victory, scattering eight hits and striking out nine.

POSTAL PATRON'S DEFINITION WON'T BE CHALLENGED

WASHINGTON (AP) — Americans can get their names taken off commercial mailing lists that offer everything from pornography to potatoes simply by telling their postmasters they find the products too sexy.

"If somebody says he finds an advertisement for potatoes erotically arousing or sexually provocative, we're not going to challenge his motives or his reasons," one Post Office Department official said Thursday.

The basis for the policy is a 1967 law—recently upheld by the Supreme Court—designed to take innocent families off the mailing lists of pornography pushers.

Nevertheless, the Post Office does not plan to challenge any postal patron's definition of "erotically arousing or sexually provocative," sources in the department say.

Butkus Agrees To Indefinite Chicago Pact

CHICAGO (AP) — The Chicago Bears announced Friday the signing of Dick Butkus, middle linebacker, to an indefinite contract.

Butkus, 27, who has been the National Football League's top line-backer for the last five years, said the contract signing ends negotiation sessions with the team's management.

"I am happy we got together," he said, "because I want to play in my home town for many years. Now I'll concentrate on my objective, which is to start winning again."

Butkus, the defensive team's captain, was an All-American at the University of Illinois before he came to the Bears in 1965.

The contract announcement did not specify the terms or the period of time.

Sprouts Peace In Garden

By EARL AMMERMAN
Associated Press Writer

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Instead of growing gardenias or radishes in his garden, 89-year-old Peter Mason Bond says he is "sprouting peace."

Bond says he's been broadcasting his support of peace, through his "graffiti garden," for more than 20 years.

As for "all those aroused youngsters" who currently demonstrate and picket for peace, the spry elderly gent says he's "older than three or four of them put together."

"The kids, lacking in wisdom, go out and carry signs and make a lot of noise, but I'm making more headway because I'm growing something," he said.

Bond, originally from Sydney, has developed a garden that blossoms with such signs as "All Conflict End Only When We Act as Brothers" and "War Stops Heaven on Earth."

Large and small, the signs cover his entire yard, set among Victorian sculpture, gilded rocks, painted knickknacks and garden greenery.

"If we're determined to do something about the problems of the world, let's do it in a healthy, constructive fashion," he said.

Bond said he began his garden two decades ago with a sign proclaiming: "The Eternal City of San Francisco, First Home of the United Nations Organization for Peace."

Now the array includes a classically sculpted statue of a woman holding a jug, topped by a sign: "Mothers Hate All Wars."

EBENEZER WSCS IN EDDY HOME

The Ebenezer WSCS met Thursday, May 28, at the home of Mrs. Sherwood Eddy, 108 Finley street, with Miss Beulah Dyer assisting.

The president, Mrs. Paul Jones, opened with an article from the Guide Post, "What's the Good Word?", followed with a commencement prayer from the Upper Room.

The program, The Church in Each Place, was presented by Mrs. Florence B. Thorne. Roll was answered by 11 members. Minutes were read by Mrs. Charles Brainer in the absence of the secretary. The treasurer's report was given by Mrs. Everett Hymes, followed with the report of the annual conference held April 30 at Bloomington.

Mrs. Eddy gave the spiritual thought and read a poem, The Earth as a Ball. She commented on the recent deaths of two noted educators, Farrel Patterson and Milburn (Pete) Akers, formerly of the city. The meeting closed with prayer and lovely refreshments were served during the social hour.

The next meeting in June will be at 9:30 a.m. at the home of Mrs. Alpha DeGroot. Mrs. John Hadden will be program leader.

GOP To Resist Demo Price Freeze Move

By EDMOND LEBRETON
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — A Democratic move to give President Nixon standby authority for a price-wage-rent freeze is a political ploy most Republicans will resist, says Rep. William B. Widnall, R-N.J.

Widnall is the senior Republican member of the House Banking Committee. Democratic committee members launched the freeze idea at a private meeting Wednesday.

With the blessing of Chairman Wright Patman, D-Tex., they will try to attach the provision to a bill to extend the Defense Production Act, due to expire June 30.

"If they think there should be mandatory controls on wages, prices and rents, why don't they pass legislation enacting them?" Widnall said in an interview. "But I don't think they would do this. This is a political ploy. They want to dump the whole thing in the President's lap."

Although he echoed Nixon's opposition to mandatory controls on the economy, Widnall said he would be willing to consider legislation along the lines of another pending bill to require the President's Council of Economic Advisers to work out guidelines for voluntary restraint by business and labor.

The position taken by Widnall, one of the principal Republican spokesmen in Congress on economic matters, appeared to add another hint to those coming from the executive side that the administration may be more inclined than it has been in the past toward persuasion and voluntary action to hold down wage and price increases.

Patek And Alou Boost Pirates Over Giants 6-3

PITTSBURG (AP) — Fred Patek's squeeze bunt and a two-run single by Matty Alou in the sixth inning carried the Pittsburgh Pirates to a 6-3 victory over the San Francisco Giants Friday night.

Winning pitcher Bob Veale struck out 12 and contributed a key bunt single to the decisive sixth inning burst, but was clipped for nine hits and needed relief help from Dave Giusti in the ninth.

The Pirates led 3-2 when Bob Robertson walked in the sixth and went all the way to third on a wild pitch by Rich Robertson. After Manny Sanguillen walked, Jerry Johnson replaced the Giants' starter and Patek laid down a run-scoring bunt single.

Then, with two outs Veale beat out another bunt and Alou followed with a two-run single.

Blancas Grabs 2nd Round Lead In Thomas Open

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) — Homero Blancas birdied the last two holes Friday and swept into the second-round lead of the $150,000 Danny Thomas-Memphis Open Golf Tournament with a five-under-par 65.

The Happy Hombre from Houston, winner of the prestigious Colonial National invitation just two weeks ago, had a 36-hole score of 11, nine-under-par on the 6,466-yard Colonial Country Club course.

Brash Dave Hill, the first-round leader and Blancas' playing partner, slipped to a 69 but was tied for second at 132 with long-shot Jim Grant. Grant, who has never led and never even come close to winning in 2½ years on the pro tour, had a 65.

The short course continued to take a dreadful beating from the touring pros. Blancas and Lou Graham each recorded a front nine 29, five-under-par and the lowest on the tour this year.

And Rod Curl, a Wintu Indian from California, notched a rare double eagle. He holed out a 220-yard three wood shot on the 500-yard, par five 16th hole. It was the first double eagle of the year.

Veteran J.C. Goosie was alone at 13 after a 64 and six others followed at 134.

They were Dick Crawford, who was alone in second going into the day's play, Jim Jamieson, Graham, Joe Campbell, Joel Goldstrand and big George Archer. Archer and Goldstrand had 67s, Campbell took a 64, Graham a 63, Crawford a 70 and Jamieson a 68.

Frank Beard, 65, and Gene Littler, 68, topped the group at 135.

Arnold Palmer, Jack Nicklaus, Gary Player and Billy Casper are not competing.

Senate, Governor Seats At Stake In Primaries

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Voters go to the polls in eight states next Tuesday in the biggest primary day of the 1970 election season, with five U.S. Senate seats and the same number of governor's mansions at stake.

All U.S. House seats are also up this year although many of the incumbents in the eight states face no opposition. And there will be legislative and local elections in some.

Here at a glance are the highlights of the major races:

—Alabama: George Wallace and Gov. Albert Brewer stage a runoff for governor since Brewer edged Wallace in the May 5 primary but failed to get a majority.

—California: Jess Unruh, Democratic leader of the state assembly, and Mayor Sam Yorty of Los Angeles are battling for the party's nomination for governor. Gov. Ronald Reagan is unopposed for re-election.

Sen. George Murphy is expected to defeat multimillionaire industrialist Norton Simon for the GOP senatorial nomination. Reps. John V. Tunney and George Brown are staging a close battle for the Democratic nomination for senator.

—New Jersey: Sen. Harrison A. Williams Jr. faces opposition from state Sen. Frank J. Guarini Jr., who is supported by the powerful Hudson County organization, but Williams is expected to win re-election. Former state Republican chairman Nelson Gross is expected to win the GOP Senate nomination.

—New Mexico: Sen. Joseph M. Montoya is favored to win Democratic re-election over Richard Edwards, a former state representative. To set the stage for an expected big battle in the November election, Gov. David F. Cargo is the leader in a three-man field for the GOP nomination. A battle royal is being waged to succeed Cargo as governor, with six Republicans and three Democrats in the field.

—South Dakota: Gov. Frank Farrar is expected to be re-nominated on the Republican ticket. The only Democrat running for governor is state Senate majority leader Richard Kneip.

—Montana: Senate Democratic leader Mike Mansfield faces two political unknowns for re-nomination. Only one Republican is seeking Mansfield's seat Harold E. "Bud" Wallace, a Missoula sporting guns salesman and former University of Montana swim coach.

—Iowa: Incumbent GOP Gov. Robert D. Day faces no primary opposition. Three are in the Democratic race—former Lt.

Gov. Robert Fulton, state Rep. William Gannon and Robert L. Nereim, a Des Moines printer. —Mississippi: A light voter turnout is expected here where Sen. John C. Stennis is up for re-election with no primary opposition and no Republican challenger.

Northrup's HR Powers Tigers Over Twins 5-4

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Jim Northrup's two-run homer in the seventh inning powered the Detroit Tigers to a 5-4 victory over Milwaukee Friday night, extending the Brewer's losing streak to seven games.

Northrup's blast climaxed a three-run Detroit burst and gave left-hander Mickey Lolich a 5-1 lead. But the Brewers rallied for three runs in the eighth before reliever Dennis Saunders killed the threat with the help of a heads-up defensive play by Norm Cash.

The Detroit first baseman cut off right fielder Al Kaline's throw to the plate on a two-run single by Danny Walton and threw out Walton trying for second. Jerry McNertney followed with a single, but Saunders retired pinch hitter Russ Snyder for the third out.

Boston Rallies For 4-3 Victory Over Chicago

BOSTON (AP) — Run-scoring singles by Billy Conigliaro and Gerry Moses sparked a ninth inning rally that carried the Boston Red Sox to a 4-3 victory over the Chicago White Sox Friday night.

Chicago's Tommy John was leading 3-1 and working on a three-hitter going into the ninth. But he walked Luis Alvarado leading off and was relieved by veteran Wilbur Wood.

After Don Pavletich flied out, Jose Santiago delivered a pinch single and Mike Andrews walked, loading the bases.

Conigliaro followed with his two-run single, tying the score and after Carl Yastrzemski walked, reloading the bases, Moses ripped a single against Danny Murphy for another run and the ball game.

When Household 'Helpers' Aren't

The following is a Test Your Housekeeping IQ test. Actually, it is a summer IQ test. We recognize the need for testing your winter IQ but the editor allows us only so much room here. Besides, he realistic. At this very moment, you are probably scuffling around ankle-deep in sand. Who says you're going to make it into winter?

1—Your son has just dumped his rock collection in the center of your highly polished dining room table. Do you:

(a) Get the magnifying glass so the two of you can examine the scratches while conversing knowingly about wood?

(b) Say, "I'll show you where to find tons of rocks!" then drive him to an abandoned quarry and abandon him?

2—In the kitchen you find your daughter's tennis shoes soaking in a sinkful of bleach. Do you:

(a) Give her yet another lecture on basic hygiene?

(b) Grill the shoes and serve them (with horseradish sauce) for dinner?

3—You find you are now doing three times the laundry any family this size really needs. Do you:

(a) Slyly cut down on clothing changes by refolding dirty things and replacing them in drawers?

(b) Burn the clothes and hang out a nudist camp sign?

4—One day, after scrubbing the kitchen floor twice, you notice it is once again decorated with slimy swirls of peanut butter. Do you:

(a) Tack up a sign that says, "Neatness Counts?"

(b) Rent a spray painting outfit, fill it with peanut butter and finish the floor problem once and for all?

5—After gathering wet towels and bathing suits off the living room sofa for the eighth straight day, do you:

(a) Scatter about the house little pamphlets describing various unhealthy fungi which flourish under damp conditions, hoping your children will take the hint?

(b) Have the furniture reupholstered in moldy terrycloth?

6—If your neighbor's son has his hand (at full amp) practice every afternoon during your only available hour for a beauty nap, do you:

(a) Explain patiently how the doctor says the noise has a singularly bad effect on your nerves?

(b) Join a motorcycle club and invite the pack to hold all their meetings at your house?

7—You have just returned from chaperoning a Cub Scout picnic and are now busily engaged in cleaning up after your daughter's all-day patio party, when your husband announces, "I've invited the office gang over tonight for hamburgers and beer!" Do you:

(a) Warble, "Great, Sweetie! I'll be ready for them—may even have time to wash the porch walls and sew up a new awning!"

(b) Scream, "Over my dead body!" and shoot yourself?

Vacation Season Time For Adventure

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP) — The buds of spring have all opened now, and many of its brave petals fall.

The seasons seem endless, but in truth they do march upon each other's heels, and bright summer is already standing in the wings, impatient to seize the stage.

Then it'll be vacation time again for millions, and most of them will find their week or two away from work almost as routine as the long months they spend on the job.

But if the seasons change, why can't people?

Wouldn't it be wonderful if just this year everybody on earth did something different on his vacation, tried some adventure that had beckoned to him all his life but whose challenge he had never answered? It would have a tonic effect on him whether it proved to be fun or foolish.

What could one do? Well, one man's secret daydream could be another's nightmare, but you might, for once in your life—

Drink wine from a goatskin bag.

Pick a cucumber and convert it into a pickle.

Go to the South Pole and play leapfrog with a penguin.

Go to the North Pole and do your Christmas shopping early. Adopt an orphaned robin. Become a carnival barker. Wear white tie and tails to the opening of a new delicatessen. Write a love sonnet with a stylus.

Have a cannibal for lunch during National Brotherhood Week.

Hire a sky writer to inscribe aloft your views about what we should do about Vietnam.

Secretly climb Mt. Rushmore at night with chisel and mallet and carve your own profile there.

Start an antigambling crusade at Las Vegas.

AUSSIE GUEST IN ASHLAND

ASHLAND — Miss Hazel Astbury of New South Wales, Australia, was a weekend guest at the home of Mr. and Mrs. E. Y. Johnson.

Miss Astbury is traveling across the United States on horseback. She began her trip last summer and got as far as Winchester when bad weather started. She left her horse at the Mavis farm at Rochester and returned to Australia. She is starting out again. She expects to end her trip in San Francisco in October or November if all goes well. She is taking a northern route through the Grand Tetons and then down the coast of Oregon and California.

She has traveled across Canada on her horse and has traveled extensively in many European countries.

After both she and the horse got "broken in" she travels about 25 miles a day. Miss Astbury finds America very beautiful and its people "just wonderful."

Mr. and Mrs. Seibert Quinley were Sunday guests at the home of the latter's brother, Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Forman in Rushville.

Mrs. Victor Phipps and son, Michael, spent a few days with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harry A. Winkelman here, while Mr. Phipps, as a member of P. B. Soles Leadership Club, spent a week in Miami, Florida, the guest of Pitney Bowes, Inc.

The Phipps family returned to their home in Topeka, Kansas, Sunday.

Mrs. Richard Bloomfield and Mrs. Joe Reiser are taking a refresher course in nursing at Land of Lincoln College in Springfield. Both ladies are graduates of St. John's hospital, Springfield.

NOT A JOKE

LONDON (AP) — The Greenwich theater is presenting the Greek tragedy, "Medea" by Euripides.

Recently the theater received a mailed request for 24 tickets, accompanied by a check signed "K. Euripides."

It wasn't a gag, Kodross Euripides, a Greek Cypriot who has lived in England for 15 years, was bringing his wife and 22 friends to see "Medea."

The United Nations Post Office is run by U.S. postal workers but, by agreement, is permitted to use United Nations stamps.

PTA AT DOSH NAMES OFFICERS

MEREDOSIA — The Meredisia-Chambersburg PTA met May 13 at the high school with president Mrs. Marilyn Seymour presiding. Members of the Redi-Workers 4-H club led the pledge to the flag.

Mrs. Seymour introduced Miss Anita Morrow, who presented the annual spring style show; Marlene Burrus narrated. The P.H.A. club members installed their new officers.

Announcement was made that due to increased expenses including rental fees for buses, dues for swimming lessons would be increased to $1 each for the season. Richard Haddfield was given a life membership award in appreciation for service to the school and community.

Mrs. Barbara Taylor will assist Mrs. Dora Dawson in the library. Recent donations of bookshelves by the Junior Woman's club and assistance by the Building Trades class are appreciated by the librarians.

New officers were installed by past president Richard Kleinlein and Mrs. Seymour was given a past president's pin. Refreshments were served by fifth grade parents with Mrs. Myron Liehr, chairman. Arts and craft projects were displayed by the industrial arts class members under the supervision of Darrell McDannold, instructor.

"It was not an attack on the Pope, the person, but an attack on the Church government—the system," he told the paper's Vatican correspondent, Robert R. Holton.

He said that actually, his views were in support of papal primacy since, in order to strengthen present-day authority in Church leadership, it should be used in a shared, collegial way, rather than in the opposite way.

Asked about speculation that he sought to develop the issue as a springboard toward becoming the next Pope, he chuckled and said, "That's nonsense. If you wish to aim at that, you must not take the positions I am taking."

He said he realized he had risked being removed from his position as cardinal by his criticisms, but was willing to face the costs. He said his main hope is "that the Church today should be adapted to the needs of today."

Allow Increase Of Eight Percent For School Aid

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (AP) — Over objections the amount was not enough, the Illinois legislature voted final approval Friday night to a $717.4 million annual outlay in state aid to public schools.

The program was offered by Rep. Charles W. Clabaugh, R-Champaign, chairman of the Illinois School Problems Commission, as a substitute for one proposed by Gov. Richard B. Ogilvie.

Clabaugh said the total amount was $14 million more than Ogilvie budgeted for aid to elementary and high schools.

One of the chief provisions will give school districts a flat 8 per cent increase over the state aid received in the 1969-70 school year.

As originally passed by the House, the Clabaugh bill called for a 10 per cent hike in aid but it was scaled down by the Senate.

The Senate's action brought a barrage of criticism from House members advocating a greater increase in school financing.

The House, however, voted 90 to 67 to accept the Senate cut.

The Clabaugh bill retains the equalization level for state aid at the present $520 per pupil plus the flat 8 per cent boost. Ogilvie had recommended a $550 level.

Under the state aid formula, the state makes up the difference between the amount produced by a qualifying local property tax rate and a guaranteed foundation level.

Clabaugh's bill differed with Ogilvie's proposal on another major point of qualifying rates.

Clabaugh's bill kept the local tax rates at the present level while Ogilvie had proposed a boost.

In another major action, the legislature approved two bills reducing the share of cities and counties in the state income tax and giving some income state proceeds to other taxing bodies except school districts.

Edward Magigan, R-Lincoln, House sponsor of the income tax bills, said the loss to cities and counties would total $5 million a year.

Cities and counties, which now receive one-twelfth of income tax collections, would get a lower amount under the bill basing their allocations on proceeds realized by the state after refunds.

Presently the local shares are based on gross collections before refunds.

The second bill would give other taxing districts about $15 million from the income tax.

Their shares would be based on a formula which takes into account the revenue lost by new state laws exempting a household of furniture and one family car from personal property taxes, and granting a $1,500 assessment exemption to homeowners over 65.
